

ELECTRIC COMPANY COMPLETELY ELIMINATES MANUAL INPUT OF PROPERTY TAX DATA WITH IMPLEMENTATION OF TAXFEED®

Peak Property Tax Compliance Periods Weighed Down Small Team

Prior to implementing TaxFeed, the electric company's team manually keyed their property tax bills into PowerPlan, the company's property tax compliance software, every day through November and December. During this time, they devoted all of their attention to property tax data entry at the expense of other projects.

To eliminate data entry, the small team implemented TaxFeed and has not looked back since. With the time savings afforded by TaxFeed, the company's property tax team focused their energy on more productive, value-add projects.

TaxFeed Improved Data Accuracy and Completeness

TaxFeed not only saved valuable time but also helped the electric company's team ensure no assessments or bills were missing. With TaxFeed, the team was able to reduce their reliance on paper mail, resulting in well-maintained and accurate data going into PowerPlan. Additionally, since TaxFeed standardizes the data format, the company avoids data matching errors even when jurisdictions make changes to their billing information.

Operating with Greater Efficiency

With few resources and a lot of ground to cover, the company's property and sales tax teams always had new projects to work on. While property tax compliance is important, they could not afford to spend valuable time on it, and TaxFeed made that efficiency possible.

QUOTES FROM PROPERTY TAX MANAGER

"By automating a big piece of property tax compliance with TaxFeed, I'm given time back to spend on those value-add responsibilities."

"In property tax, it's difficult to maintain consistency since things change so often. We had one jurisdiction go from sending one bill to about 100, but TaxFeed accounted for that change, and it was easy to keep the data in PowerPlan consistent!"

"The more you can automate property tax, the better. TaxFeed takes a manual, mundane task and automates it, which lets us spend more time on the projects that add value."
